Temporary Upgrade to Google AI Plus

While it is true that women in Iran are highly educated (often making up more than half of university students and a high percentage of STEM graduates), they face systemic legal and social discrimination. This includes mandatory dress codes (hijab laws), restrictions on travel without male guardian permission, and unequal rights in marriage, divorce, and inheritance. Therefore, despite academic achievements, discrimination remains a defining systemic challenge.

Only the choices.

Sunday, April 26, 2026, 5:31 PM
Gemini
D
D
A
C
C

Ask questions in a temporary chat

Tools Fast

Gemini is AI and can make mistakes.